Catrin Evans

Head of Development

Catrin is head of development at The Cii. Over the past year, she has helped to spearhead progress in the organisation and has had a number of successes, including securing high-level funding for a new women's project in Wales and taking the lead on the development of a brand-new empty homes regeneration project in her home city of Dundee.

Daniel Marsden

Head of Partnerships

Having worked in business development for more than 10 years and having led teams throughout my career in and around the property and legal industries, I was well placed to engage in this new chapter with Probate.Auction & Resi.Auction. Engaging with existing and future clients, utilising data for the company and client's advantage is paramount to my success but most importantly it's the relationships that I nurture that drives me the most.

Empty Homes Services

Finders International offer a free service assisting local authorities in bringing empty homes back into use.

We assist in identifying and locating missing empty property owners worldwide.

Where any empty home owner is deceased we can track down executors or next of kin which can lead to property being renovated or sold on the market.

How this benefits the local authorities

- ✧ Reduction of long term empty homes in your area
- ✧ Reduction in anti-social behaviour
- ✧ More housing available to renters and buyers
- ✧ Recovery of unpaid council tax
