Public Health Act Funerals: Stories from the Frontline

Event Information Pack

Everything you need to know about the event
and our speakers

Introduction

We are delighted to welcome you to the second installment of our PHA series, featuring Julie Dunk, Bereavement Services Specialist and former Chief Executive of the ICCM, joined by Debbie Bates, Celebrant, and Sarah Jones, Founder of Full Circle Funerals.

Our panel explores how funeral choices are evolving and what this means for local authorities managing Public Health Act funerals. Bringing together expertise from across bereavement services, ceremony design, and funeral provision, the session offers a practical, discussion-led look at how families navigate decisions and the growing range of options now available.

This CPD-accredited session provides clear, real-world insight into how greater awareness of funeral choices can support more informed decision-making, reduce uncertainty, and improve outcomes for families. Ideal for professionals managing or overseeing PHA funerals, it builds on core knowledge while setting the stage for deeper discussion in future sessions.

Meet our speakers

Julie Dunk
Former Chief Executive

Julie Dunk is a highly experienced bereavement services professional with a career spanning over three decades across local authority cemetery and crematorium services.

She worked in roles across Cardiff, Lewisham and Bournemouth before joining the Institute of Cemetery and Crematorium Management (ICCM) in 2008, where she was later appointed Chief Executive.

During her time at ICCM, Julie's work has helped shape how councils approach public health funerals, balancing statutory duties with dignity and care.

Julie has since retired from her role as Chief Executive but continues to support the sector through training, knowledge-sharing, and professional development.

She has also been recognised for her contribution to bereavement services, including receiving a Lifetime Achievement Award.

Meet our speakers

Christina Martin
Technical Support Officer

Christina Martin is a Technical Support Officer in Environmental Health at Wealden Council, where she leads on Public Health Act funerals.

Since joining the council in 2017, she has developed and implemented procedures for managing these cases, drawing on extensive frontline experience to handle often complex and sensitive situations.

Her work involves arranging funerals where no prior provision has been made, including tracing next of kin, navigating family circumstances, and ensuring respectful outcomes in line with statutory duties.

Christina is also the author of the bestselling book Ashes to Admin: Tales from the Caseload of a Council Funeral Officer, written under the pen name Evie King, which sheds light on the realities of council-arranged funerals.

She also contributes to training and public discussion, helping to raise awareness of funeral poverty, end-of-life planning, and the role of local authorities in these services.

Help us create a fair and sustainable future for Gloucestershire

A local charity working to make Gloucestershire communities more sustainable, robust, and resilient

Vision 21 is a small, yet highly active sustainability charity with 29 years of impact. Operating across Gloucestershire, our projects focus on enhancing health, well-being and the environment. Working with local authorities, businesses and community organisations, all of our projects involve voluntary opportunities.

Our work concerns the Climate Emergency, specifically about how we can help mitigate climate change and assist our society, communities, families and individuals to adapt to living in a warmer world.

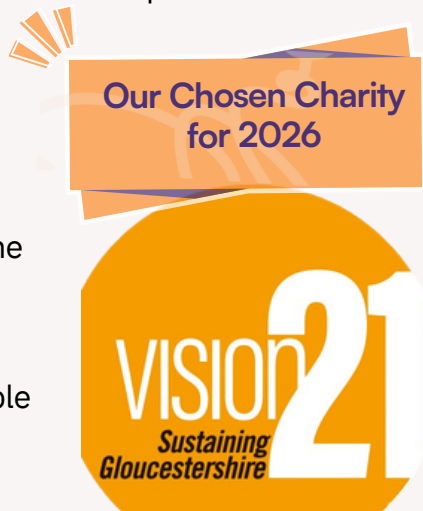

By encouraging people to think and act in favour of the climate and their community, we can all assist the planet's recovery as well as improve our local environment and living spaces. In this way, we hope to make our communities better able to cope with the crisis.

We have five main initiatives:

- CheltenhamZero
- Planet Cheltenham
- Repair Café and Network
- Reclaim furniture recycling scheme
- Planted

All of which contributes towards meeting the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.
